New World Resources launches new corporate website

08 Apr 2009

New World Resources N.V. (“NWR” or “the Company”), Central Europe’s leading hard coal producer, announces the launch of its new corporate website at www.newworldresources.eu.

NWR’s new content-rich website has a contemporary design and an ease of navigation that is consistent with the Company’s policy of transparency and openness. The site provides a wide range of corporate information for the Company’s stakeholders, including business partners, investors, the media and the wider public.

Petra Mašínová, NWR’s Head of Corporate Communications, said: “NWR has investors and partners based all around the world, and we are listed on three stock markets, so clarity of information and ease of navigation were essential drivers to the new design. And in the near future we shall be launching Czech- and Polish-language versions of the site.”

The new website is divided into sections that provide comprehensive information about all aspects of the Company and its activities, with dedicated Investor Relations pages, an expanded Media section, and areas devoted to corporate responsibility and the environment.

Visitors to the new NWR site can also find links to the Company’s subsidiaries – OKD, OKK, NWR Energy, and Karbonia PL – as well as the OKD Foundation, one of the Czech Republic’s largest corporate foundations.

NWR’s new website also includes useful links to coal, steel and energy related resources, and also has a Glossary of industry terms.

Notes for editors:
